The Need for 45-Day Ballot Transit Time

The most persistent problem which continues to face Indiana military and overseas voters is the extremely short period of time these voters have to receive, vote, and return their absentee ballots in order to be counted. While electronic transmission of election materials offers an alternative to inadequate ballot transit time in emergency situations, the fact is that insufficient ballot transit time through the mail remains the primary obstacle to ensuring timely delivery of absentee ballots to all who request them. Our post-election surveys and Postal Service statistics indicate that a 45-day transit time is needed for absentee ballots sent through international mail or the military APO/ FPO (overseas) post offices. This round trip transit time is especially necessary because of the remote location of many military personnel and overseas citizens such as sailors and marines aboard ship, airmen and sailors at isolated tracking sites around the world, as well as Department of State personnel and citizen employees of American multinational corporations in remote areas. We realize Indiana provides 45-day transit time for General and Primary elections. However, expanding this provision to all elections would help ensure enfranchisement. Forty-one states now provide a 45-day transit time.

For all elections, the official charged with the printing and distribution of ballots and election materials shall print as many absentee ballots as may be necessary as soon as possible after receiving the information concerning candidates and measures to be voted on at an election, and balloting materials shall be mailed not later than the 45th day before the election.

Expand Use of Federal Write-In Absentee Ballot

Currently the Federal Write-In Absentee Ballot (FWAB) may be used only in general elections for Federal offices only. This ballot is prepositioned worldwide at Embassies and Consulates, military installations and overseas organizations and corporations with American membership. By expanding its use to include special, primary and runoff elections for Federal offices, citizens would not be disenfranchised because regular ballots are not received in a timely manner. Frequently, there is insufficient time between the call for a special election and the actual election and between primary and runoff elections. Allowing use of the FWAB in these elections would reduce the possible need for legal action when insufficient time exists for the ballot to be received, voted and returned to be counted. During past primaries, on an ad hoc basis, several states and jurisdictions allowed the FWAB to be used for offices other than Federal offices. Eleven other states have legislatively expanded its use beyond the Federal law.

In addition, for those citizens that desire to vote in elections for Federal office only, the acceptance of the FWAB transmission envelope as a request for registration simultaneously with the submission of the FWAB would further simplify the process, improve on transit time and help ensure enfranchisement. It should be noted that the information requested on the FWAB transmission envelope is basically the same as the information requested from the voter on the Federal Post Card Application (FPCA). We recommend the FWAB transmission envelope and FWAB be accepted simultaneously as a registration form and ballot by the state for general election and Federal offices if:

- (1) the information submitted complied with the state's registration requirements;
- (2) the voter is otherwise eligible to vote absentee in the jurisdiction where the request is submitted;
- (3) the request is received by the appropriate state election official not less than 30 days before the election or the state deadline for absentee ballot requests, whichever is later.

The adoption of this initiative would save the state money and alleviate administrative responsibilities on the part of the local election official.

• Expanded use of the FWAB:

If the voter is residing outside the United States or a member of the United States Uniformed Services or a family member of a member of the Uniformed Services and a qualified elector, he or she may use the Federal Write-In Absentee Ballot in general, special, primary, and run-off elections for local, state and Federal offices.

• Use of FWAB as a Combined Request for Registration and Ballot Submission:

If the voter is residing outside the United States, or is a member of the United States Uniformed Services, or a family member of a member of the Uniformed Services, and a qualified elector, he or she may use the Federal Write-In Absentee Ballot (FWAB) transmission envelope as a request for registration simultaneously with the submission of the FWAB if:

- (1) the information submitted complies with the registration requirements of the state;
- (2) the voter is otherwise eligible to vote absentee in the jurisdiction where the request is submitted; and
- (3) the request is received by the appropriate state election official not less than 30 days before the election or the state deadline, whichever is later.

Enfranchise Citizens Who Have Never Resided in the U.S.

There are many U.S. citizens who have never resided in a state and under current law are not entitled to vote. These are usually first or second generation citizens who are subject to U.S. income tax and all other requirements of citizens. Except for the fact that they have never resided in a state, they would be eligible to vote in elections for Federal office. Some local election officials make exceptions and allow these citizens to vote. Twelve states have passed legislation allowing these citizens to claim the legal residence of a parent. We recommend these citizens be allowed to vote in elections for Federal offices where either parent is eligible to vote under UOCAVA.

Sample Language

If a U.S. citizen outside the United States who has never lived in the United States has a parent who is a qualified elector, then that person is eligible to register and vote where his or her parent is a qualified elector.
